

What do patients want in the treatment of major depressive disorder?

Industry satellite symposium on the occasion of the 33rd ECNP Congress Virtual with educational financial support provided by H. Lundbeck A/S

Join us for this engaging industry satellite symposium with our expert panel of speakers Diane McIntosh, Mark Opler and Andrea Fagiolini, who will discuss what patients with major depressive disorder really want. The symposium will explore this patient-centricity by discussing how physicians and patients can work together to agree goals of treatment, how progress towards these goals can be measured and how emotional blunting can be specifically managed.

Saturday 12 September 2020, 15:50–17:20 CET
Room 3 (Virtual Platform)

The European Accreditation Committee in CNS (EAC(C)) has granted 2 CME credits to this industry satellite symposium. To receive a certificate of CME credits, please complete the evaluation form that will be made available directly from the 33rd ECNP Congress Virtual.
