

39TH ECNP CONGRESS

10-13 Oct. 2026 | Munich, Germany

PRESS POLICY

ECNP welcomes the press to the 39th ECNP Congress, a hybrid Congress. We place a high priority on informing the public about important news and developments related to the science and treatment of disorders of the brain, and we aim to provide an appropriate working environment for accredited journalists attending the Congress. The College is happy to facilitate any contacts with ECNP specialists.

Tom Parkhill, press officer, is available to assist on-site or by e-mail at press@ecnp.eu.

General principles

The press policy applies to all journalists and representatives of third-party organisations attending the 39th ECNP Congress and/or making use of materials provided by ECNP.

The ECNP logo is the property of ECNP and is protected by copyright. It cannot be used, reproduced or associated with any event, article, website or press release without the prior approval of ECNP. Approval will not be granted in cases which are considered commercial in aim, or which appear to imply endorsement from ECNP. Elements to be found in the promotional kit however can be used. These can be found on Promotional kit - ECNP. All information presented during the scientific sessions is the intellectual property of the authors and all rights remain with them. All the recorded presentations are copyright of the ECNP.

Press registration

Participation in the congress is free of charge for journalists but requires proof of status and registration. To register, please send an e-mail to the ECNP Press Officer with the following:

- Your preference to attend in-person or virtually. Please note that in-person registration also gives access to the congress platform
- A copy of a valid press card or a letter of assignment. Any letter of assignment should be supported by copies of at least 2 relevant articles (including by-lines) published in the 6 months prior to the congress
- The name of who you are working for and what the organisation does
- Your job role

Only one person per publication or agency can benefit from free registration.*

Free in-person press registration should be booked at least 3 days before the start of the congress; if you show up at the congress and ask for press registration, you will be refused access.

Members of the press who cannot attend the congress can still receive press information. To receive advance press releases, please contact the press officer at e-mail. We anticipate that all press releases will be individually embargoed, and journalists are required to respect these embargoes.

The congress platform is accessible for registered press and participants until 11 January 2027 at 12.00 CET.

Who is eligible for press registration?

Professional journalists representing media organisations, freelance journalists, photo and video journalists, bloggers, podcasters, authors, filmmakers, public information officers, institutional communicators, journalism educators and student journalists who present appropriate credentials (listed above) will be considered for complimentary press registration.

Who is not eligible for press registration?

Editors of scientific journals, educators, researchers in science communication, professionals in government affairs, public policy, marketing and project management, and representatives of publishing houses, the business side of news media, will not be accredited as press and must register as regular attendees.

Every year we receive press registration requests from persons who are not journalists, so we do need to confirm status. In all cases, press registration is at the discretion of the ECNP, so there may be exceptions to the above eligibility criteria; if in doubt, please contact the press officer.

Embargoes

Prior to the congress, only the abstract titles are available. All congress abstracts, except those chosen for press releases, will be available to registered participants at the start of the ECNP Congress. It is a condition of press registration that these should be considered as under press embargo until the time of presentation.

Those abstracts chosen for press releases will be embargoed individually; registered journalists will receive advance notice of these abstracts. If in doubt, please contact the press officer.

Photography and filming of sessions

Audio and video recording and taking pictures with flash is prohibited during the congress sessions. The only photography which is allowed during sessions is photography of slides, which is permitted only for reference purposes (reproduction is strictly forbidden).

Photography of posters is allowed under similar terms. No (professional) filming crews or photographers are allowed under any circumstances in the session rooms or poster area, except those hired by the 39th ECNP Congress Foundation.

Photography and filming of interviews

Journalists/photographers are allowed to photograph or film interviews at the specially marked area (Emerald Lounge). Permission of the person interviewed should be agreed before any interview takes place.

General photography and filming

In the past, participants of the ECNP Congress have expressed concerns about being photographed or filmed. Because of this, persons in possession of press badge are restricted to film and photograph inside the venue at Level O, corridor left of Room 4 and 5. Please note that this is discretionary of the 39th ECNP Congress foundation, and if we receive requests from participants, or if filming/photography/recording is regarded as intrusive, then we may have to withdraw permission.

Filming in the exhibition area is only allowed in the stand of the company that has ordered the filming or photography. It is not allowed to film or take photographs in the general or catering areas of the exhibition.

Corporate press activities

The company (or third party) shall not organise press conferences in the congress venue or during congress hours. Company and third party press material should not include the ECNP Logo. No reference to the ECNP Congress shall be made unless information or documentation is included about data presented at the ECNP Congress. If this information or data is included, the press release should state that the press release content does not suggest endorsement by the ECNP of the products and/or services that the company offers. Company supported content or sessions must include the formula: "Industry session financially supported by (name of the company) during the 39th ECNP Congress". The ECNP Press Officer, Tom Parkhill can be contacted at press@ecnp.eu.

Press officer

If you are in doubt about any of these policies or if you have any enquiries before or during the congress, please contact the ECNP Press Officer, Tom Parkhill, either by e-mail or via phone number +39 349 238 8191. This email is active throughout the year, so if you wish comment or background information, please feel free to contact us. We will be happy to try to accommodate any requests.

This policy is for guidance; it is subject to regular review and revision which may require changes according to changing circumstances. We also recognise that individual circumstances may need to be considered, and we will help where we can, don't be afraid to ask.
