

Katharina Domschke, MA, MD, PhD, is Full Professor of Psychiatry and Chair of the Department of Psychiatry and Psychotherapy, University of Freiburg, Germany.

Prof. Domschke completed her studies and postgraduate education in medicine and psychology at the University of Muenster, Germany, and Trinity College Dublin, Ireland, as well as at Boston University, Boston, MA, USA, and Maastricht University, The Netherlands. After her residency in psychiatry at the Universities of Bonn and Muenster, Germany, she worked as an attending physician and associate professor at the Department of Psychiatry, University of Muenster, Germany. In 2012, she was appointed Full Professor of Psychiatry at the University of Wuerzburg, Germany, where she worked as attending physician and from 2014 through 2016 as vice chair. Since 2016 she is Chair of the Dept. of Psychiatry and Psychotherapy at Freiburg University and has been Adjunct Professor at the Medical University Vienna.

Prof. Domschke's clinical expertise is on diagnostics and therapy in adult psychiatry, particularly anxiety and mood disorders, stress-related disorders and obsessive-compulsive disorders.

Scientifically, applying genetic/epigenetic, imaging genetic and therapy(epi)genetic approaches she is interested in the identification of multilevel markers for the prediction, indicated prevention and personalized treatment of mental disorders. As of November 2021, her work is reflected by over 350 publications in peer-reviewed journals, two books and 26 book chapters. Her h-index is 52 (Web of Science) or 65 (Google Scholar), respectively.

Prof. Domschke is a member of the German National Academy of Sciences Leopoldina and has been awarded with the Research Award of the World Federation of Societies of Biological Psychiatry (WFSBP), the Fellowship Award of the World Psychiatric Association (WPA), the Fellowship Award of the European College of Neuropsychopharmacology (ECNP), the Research Award of the German Society of Biological Psychiatry (DGBP), and the Research Award of the German Society of Psychiatry, Psychotherapy and Neurology (DGPPN).

Prof. Domschke has received funding from e.g. the EU, the German Research Foundation (DFG), and the German Ministry of Research and Education (BMBF). She is a fellow of ACNP and ECNP, councillor to CINP, board member of the German Society of Psychiatry, Psychotherapy and Neurology (DGPPN), vice president of the German Society of Anxiety Research (GAF), secretary of the German Society of Biological Psychiatry (DGBP), and a full member of SOBP and ISPG.

Prof. Domschke is co-editor of the German national journal "Der Nervenarzt" and serves on 13 international editorial boards, e.g., European Neuropsychopharmacology, International Journal of Neuropsychopharmacology, Biological Psychiatry: Global Open Science, World Journal of Biological Psychiatry, Journal of Psychiatric Research, Pharmacopsychiatry and Progress in Neuropsychopharmacology & Biological Psychiatry, and is a regular reviewer for over 60 SCI-listed international journals.